Free Outdoor Movie Night at The Glades at Byford

Families are invited to a free outdoor movie night at The Glades at Byford to mark the final weekend of the school holidays.

Night at The Museum 2 will be showing in the park at The Glades on Friday 29th January.

"By this stage of the school holidays, lots of families are not only running out of ideas for things to do with the kids, they are often short of cash as well!," The Glades Community Development Manager Francine Nicol said.

"This movie night is a great opportunity for friend and families to get together for a relaxed evening of entertainment that won't cost them a cent."

Francine suggests people get family and friends together, get to the park early, bring a picnic and kick back until the movie starts.

"And if they really want to push the boat out, they can support the local community group that will be doing a sausage sizzle at the park and pay for someone else to do the cooking!" Francine said.

Night at the Museum 2 is rated PG and is a great movie for all the family. The movie will begin once darkness falls – by 7.30 or 8pm – giving people plenty of time to get their picnics eaten and get settled in for the entertainment.
