Free Family Fun at The Walk at Aubin Grove

Families from in and around The Walk at Aubin Grove enjoyed an afternoon of free entertainment at a Family Fun Day last month.

Organised by LWP Property Group, the developers of The Walk, the Family Fun Day was an ideal way for residents to get to meet their neighbours according to Project Manager Matt Cousins.

Young ones enjoyed two performances from Think Pink, while the parents tapped along to some old favourites from musician Bill Shepherd. The face painters were kept busy turning small children into fairies, tigers and scary monsters.

A balloon artist and unicyclist, juggler and stilt walker amazed everyone with their skills, while Fat Cat mingled with the crowds.

A visit from Incredible Creatures mobile farm proved one of the most popular attractions, with children getting to see and cuddle baby lambs and rabbits, as well as birds and a snake.

All the excitement obviously made for hungry work, as 'Friends of the Community' were kept busy with the free sausage sizzle.

"This was a fantastic community event in the good old tradition of a village fair," Matt said.

"It was a great opportunity for everyone to get to meet other residents, and for new people considering buying land at The Walk to see the kind of family-oriented, friendly community they could be a part of.

"Residents also had the opportunity to talk to the Developers of The Walk and Shire of Cockburn staff about other community incentives and ways we can make living at the Walk even more enjoyable."
